G7 F C C

C
I'm a proper English Bulldog, come from across the pond

C
Visiting the colonies, see how they're getting along

F
I never seen so many breeds from all around the world

C
It's an international dog parade with all their flags unfurled

G7 F C
Ooohh, All-American dogs.

C
Ah, French poodles, German Shepards, Afghan Hounds, Chinese Shar-Peis

C
Irish Setters, Newfoundlands all living in one place.

F
They truly love to argue, they growl and bark and fight.

C
Though their arguments get heated, they never seem to bite.

G7 F C
Whoa, All-American dogs.

C
You know a group a dogs was barkin', a real configuration.

C
I inquired as to the topic, they barked back integration.

F
"Too many breeds!" said one "Not enough!" the other chided

C
While a big group in the middle said "We're all un-decided!"

G7 F C
Ooohh, All-American dogs.

C
How do you dogs remain such friends, with all the barks and fights?

C
"Freedom of Bark" they all replied, "it's in the Bill of Rights."

F
Every dog barks his piece 'til all opinions are known.

C
We chew on it for a while, then put it to a vote.

G7 F C
Ooohh, All-American dogs.

C
C

F
But do you love each other and have a bond of trust?

C
"Of course we do" they all replied "Look at all the mutts!"

G7 F C
Ooohh, All-American dogs.

G7 F C
Yeah, they're All-American dogs.

G7 F C
All-American, All-American All-American All-American dogs

G7 F C
